Some scholarships/grants may require two or more letters of campus support. One from a senior student affairs officer (i.e. VP of Student Affairs), and one from senior academic affairs officer (i.e. VP of Academic Affairs). Additional letters from senior administration may also be provided. While this is not a requirement for all scholarships and is not a requirement at the time of application, we recommend that applicants pursue these letters. If your institution is being considered for a scholarship or grant that does require these communications, we will notify you with at least 2 weeks' notice of when the letters will be due. Are you interested in any scholarships or grants that may have this requirement? (If no, your application will only be considered for grants or scholarships without such a requirement.)
